

Keeping you up to date

We will ask you to fill in a registration form with your contact details and then add to the confidential choir database at Cancer Focus Northern Ireland.

You'll then receive regular updates on choir performances, including any additional rehearsals organised, annual social evenings, etc. Attendance at any event is not compulsory, although a large part of the choir usually do wish to join in.

The Crescent
Arts Centre

The Crescent Arts Centre is a diverse community arts centre which has provided a wide range of arts and cultural activities for over 35 years. With over 250 classes and events per week, a thriving Outreach and Education programme across the city, and home to 8 resident arts organisations, it is one of the busiest arts centres in the UK.

Cancer Focus Northern Ireland exists to reduce the impact that cancer has on Northern Ireland society by providing cancer prevention programmes, services to people affected by cancer, campaigning for effective public policy and funding leading edge cancer research.

We are no ordinary choir.... we are the Sing for Life Community Choir!

Our choir, developed in partnership by Cancer Focus Northern Ireland and The Crescent Arts Centre, was established for anyone affected by cancer. We are based in Belfast and provide our members the opportunity to meet others living with cancer, share time together in a supportive and friendly environment and learn new skills in choral singing.

We have an average weekly attendance of 70 singers for a 2 hour practice session at the Moravian Church, University Road, Belfast. You don't have to be a good singer - every voice counts! Our repertoire ranges across upbeat, popular and sacred songs which have delighted audiences all over Northern Ireland and beyond!

What our choir members say:

"The choir is very much a life enhancing experience. There is such a sense of camaraderieI have always enjoyed singing and saw the choir on TV. It looked like fun and it certainly has been".

"The choir helps you to relax and you are surrounded by people who have had the same experiences that you have had. Cancer is a lonely disease....I have seen broken, sad, unwell people come with poor confidence and low self esteem and seen them flourish, laughing and enjoying the choir practice and the performances".

We take pride in not being a conventional choir and have a wide range of songs that not only members can relate to but audiences can really enjoy. We get regular invitations to appear at concerts, fundraising and community events, so there is always an opportunity to show off your talent.

Why not join in? There is no subscription fee and no need to audition. You'll feel energised and uplifted by the music and make new friends along the way. We promise that you will have lots of FUN!

Joining our Choir

Come along to the Moravian Church (opposite Crescent Arts Centre) on University Road. We start at 6.00pm every Monday when everyone signs in and relaxes over a cup of tea. On your first visit, a choir member will help you settle in. Rehearsals start at 6.30pm until around 8.00pm... if you have to leave earlier to catch a bus or train don't worry!
